RIVER AND WEATHER.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 30.—The Herald's special correspondent at Panama writes as follows: I learn through a private source that the character of the people of the United States is such that they will not fail to carry on a revolution in that Republic, and that the Democrats of Leon in power again. The plan is said to be laid in conjunction with Walker, and it is to be carried out by Gen. Wood. The filibusters from Mobile are expected to land at Truxillo or Omos, and cross Honduras to Leon. President Santa's guardian has pronounced himself with 500 men to support the Martines from New Orleans. He made it a condition, however, that Gen. Walker should not accompany the expedition from Omos or Truxillo. The meditated march is practicable, the distance being not very great.

The River continues falling rather fast, with only six feet steamboat water on the falls last week. In the canal there were more falls water by the middle of the fall of 1850 than in the previous 24 hours. The water was unusually warm, with heavy drifting clouds, and a soaking rain last night. In all directions we have had light rain and warm weather—too warm for winter.

By our dispatches it appears that the river is slowly receding at Pittsburgh, with eight feet in the channel. At Wheeling, however, it was rising, and in falling was accompanied by a strong gale. At Parkersburg, it was raining all day, Wednesday, and the Argyle, Sir William Wallace and Swallow passed over their way down the Ohio. The Argyle was bound for Cincinnati, and the Swallow was bound for New Orleans.

At Parkersburg, it was raining all day, Wednesday, and the Argyle, Sir William Wallace and Swallow passed over their way down the Ohio. The Argyle was bound for Cincinnati, and the Swallow was bound for New Orleans.

It is understood that President Fowkes has no discretion in the matter, and will firmly execute this policy, though reluctantly.

dent Fowkes and George S. Tyler.
